CP CORE

A Blend of Academic and Practical Skills.

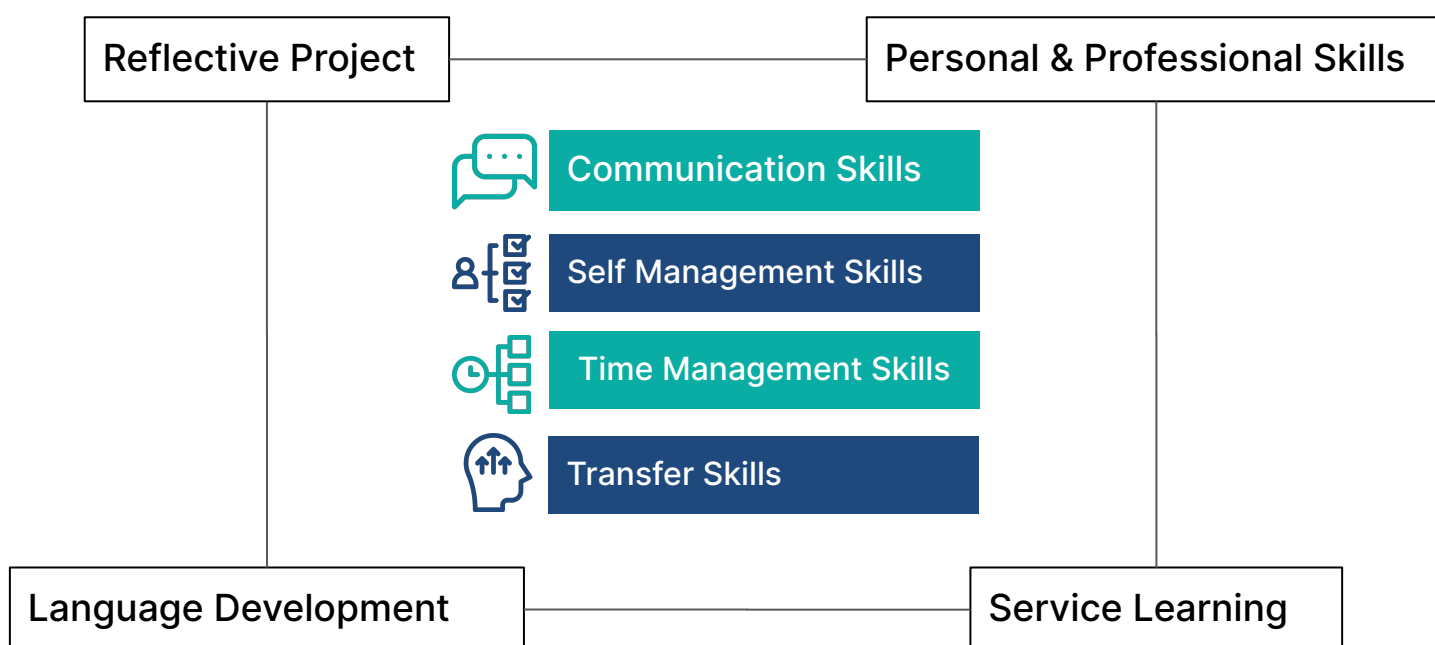

The CP Core

The CP core enhances student's personal and interpersonal development, with an emphasis on experiential learning. The CP core bridges the IB academic courses and the career-related study and provides students with a combination of academic and practical skills.

AIMS OF THE CP CORE

Drawing on the attributes of the learner profile, the core of the programme aims to develop students who are:

- thoughtful and active citizens
- responsible for their own learning and development
- competent and confident communicators
- reflective, creative and critical thinkers
- aware of our shared human condition
- able to establish a sense of identity in a context of time and place
- prepared to think about the needs, values and perspectives of other people
- active participants in their own intercultural learning.

REFLECTIVE PROJECT

The reflective project is one of the four compulsory components of the IB Career-related Programme (CP) core.

The reflective project is an in-depth body of work produced over an extended period of time and submitted towards the end of the CP. It is the product of the students' own initiative and should reflect their personal experience of the CP. The reflective project is intended to promote high-level research, writing and extended communication skills, intellectual discovery and creativity through a variety of different approaches.

The reflective project focuses on an ethical dilemma of an issue directly linked to the student's career-related study.

In addition to a written essay, students keep a record of their reflections on the process of undertaking and completing the reflective project using the Reflections on planning and progress form (RPPF). This record forms part of the final reflective project assessment.

Aims

The reflective project aims to give students the opportunity to:

- produce an extended piece of work
- engage in personal inquiry, action and reflection on a specific ethical dilemma
- present a structured and coherent argument
- engage with local and/or global communities
- develop research and communication skills
- develop the skills of critical and creative thinking.

Requirements

All CP students are required to complete the reflective project.

Students are told about the reflective project at the beginning of the CP in order to be thinking about, and working on, the reflective project throughout their CP.

Time required

Students are expected to devote a minimum of 50 hours to the reflective project.

The career-related context

From their career-related study, students identify an issue of interest then explore the ethical dimension associated with the issue in order to arrive at a focused ethical dilemma. The reflective project's primary focus is the ethical dilemma embedded within the issue, not the issue itself.

Students undertake research and analysis on the chosen ethical dilemma. This research will include consultation with the local and/or global community.

Linking the reflective project to the career-related studies of students provides a way for them to explore ethical dilemmas in real-life situations.

Key content

While there is no prescribed structure for the project, the following features must be included.

The issue

Students need to explain the issue and clearly and explicitly link it to their career-related study. However, they must also remain aware that the issue itself is not the main focus of the reflective project.

The ethical dilemma

Students must be able to recognize the ethical dilemma that arises from the issue.

Research question

Students need to identify and describe accurately the question to be answered that explicitly references the ethical dilemma that has been identified.

The research

Students must provide evidence of research that supports different viewpoints on the ethical dilemma. They should also critically examine the research itself.

There are five main stages in the research process:

1. Defining the research's purpose and objectives and the research question.
2. Conducting a literature review.
3. Designing appropriate data collection methods and analysing the data.
4. Reflecting on the research methodology adopted.
5. Presenting the research findings.

Critical analysis of the ethical dilemma

This involves students evaluating the viewpoints on the ethical dilemma and then articulating their own point of view based on reasoned argument.

References, citations and a bibliography

The reflective project is an academic piece of work and should be presented as such. This ensures academic honesty and allows the readers to check the evidence themselves.

- A reference acknowledges the source of the information that the student has used.
- A citation is a shorthand method of referencing, which is then linked to the bibliography.
- A bibliography is an alphabetical list (by author) of every source cited in the project.
- Students must use a consistent style of referencing throughout the reflective project. For further information please consult the IB publications Academic honesty in the IB educational context and Effective citing and referencing.
- Appendices, footnotes and endnotes are not necessary but if students choose to use them they should do so appropriately and not circumvent the word limit.

Format

At the end of the project, students submit:

- an essay or an essay with an additional format—see Options 1 and 2 below
- a Reflections on planning and progress form (1,000 words).

Students can choose to present their reflective project in one of two ways:

Option 1

A written essay (maximum 3,000 words). This should cover all the reflective project's requirements except reflection, which forms the content of the RPPF.

Option 2

A written essay (1,500–2,000 words) accompanied by an additional format (film, oral presentation, interview, play or display). Together, the written essay and additional format should cover all the reflective project's requirements except reflection.

Assessment

The school assesses all reflective projects. The IB will then select a sample for the school to send to an external moderator for confirmation of the school's marks.

Students will be assessed on two aspects of the project:

- the approach they use to complete the reflective project—the process
- the output from that process—the product.

The reflective project is assessed using five assessment criteria designed to foster independent study and encourage students to use their own initiative.

PERSONAL & PROFESSIONAL SKILLS

The personal and professional skills course (PPS) is a compulsory component of the Career-related Programme (CP) core.

Personal and professional skills is designed for students to develop attitudes, skills and strategies to be applied to personal and professional situations and contexts now and in the future. In this course the emphasis is on skills development for the workplace, as these are transferable and can be applied in a range of situations.

Other qualities the course should encourage include:

- responsibility
- perseverance
- resilience
- self-esteem
- academic honesty.

Aims

The overall aims of personal and professional skills are for the students to:

- develop as reflective and lifelong learners who can adapt to diverse situations
- recognize personal strengths and identify ways to overcome challenges
- be aware of and respond effectively to ethical dilemmas
- value diversity of cultures and perspectives
- demonstrate the ten attributes of the IB learner profile.

Time required

The personal and professional skills course requires a minimum of 90 timetabled hours.

Five central themes

There are five themes in personal and professional skills:

1. Personal development.
2. Intercultural understanding.
3. Effective communication.
4. Thinking processes.
5. Applied ethics.

Learning Outcome

These learning outcomes articulate what a CP student can do at some point during his or her personal and professional skills course. The focus on learning outcomes emphasises that the quality of the course and its contribution to the student's development are of most importance.

L.O. 1	identifies their strengths and develops areas for growth
L.O. 2	demonstrate the ability to apply thinking processes to personal and professional situations.
L.O. 3	Recognize and be able to articulate the value of cultural understanding and appreciation for diversity.
L.O. 4	demonstrates the skills and recognise the benefits of communicating effectively and working collaboratively.
L.O. 5	Recognize and consider the ethics of choices and actions.

Evidencing the outcomes

The students demonstrate some of these learning outcomes in various activities either as individual work or group work. However, we consciously design activities that allow students to collect evidence of every outcome. Students are required to document their learning outcomes in Managebac and in a digital portfolio. They must present evidence and reflections covering the above learning outcomes at the end of the two years.

The career-related context

The personal and professional skills course emphasises skills for the workplace, as they are transferable and can be applied in a range of situations.

This course is tailored to students so that they can make links to their career-related studies.

Assessment

At the end of the course, the students should submit a digital portfolio that contains evidence of achieving all their learning outcomes in all 5 themes at least twice. CP core portfolio presentations takes place at the end of each semester to ensure that students are on track. The PPS coordinator assess the digital portfolio and decide if the student has successfully completed the course.

LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT

Language development is one of the four compulsory components of the IB Career-related Programme (CP) core.

Language development ensures that all students have access to and are exposed to a language programme that will assist and further their understanding of the wider world. The ability to communicate in more than one language is essential to the IB's concept of an international education.

Language development encourages students to improve their proficiency in a language other than their best language.

Aims

The IB acknowledges the crucial role of language in an IB education and, as such, is committed to providing language development for all CP students.

The aims of language development are to:

- enable students to understand and use the language they have studied in context
- encourage an awareness and appreciation of the different perspectives of people from other cultures
- provide students with a basis for further study, work and leisure through the use of an additional language
- provide the opportunity for enjoyment, creativity and intellectual stimulation through knowledge of an additional language.

These aims are applicable to all students, regardless of the level of linguistic proficiency they have when they begin the CP. Language development is designed to accommodate all students and ensure they are exposed to language other than their best language that will assist and further their understanding of the wider world.

Time required

Students are expected to devote a minimum of 50 hours to language development.

Objectives

In language development, the objectives are organized into four communicative processes:

1. Oral communication
2. Visual interpretation
3. Reading comprehension
4. Writing

Objectives

In language development, the objectives are organized into four communicative processes:

1. Oral communication
2. Visual interpretation
3. Reading comprehension
4. Writing

The career-related context

The CP seeks to utilize aspects of the core to support the career-related studies of the students. This directly relates to the CP aim of providing “students with a basis for further study, work and leisure through the use of an additional language”.

It is recommended that the provision of language development relates to, or reflects, the career-related studies of a student. This provides the student with opportunities to explore how language is used in everyday situations.

Assessment

At the end of the course, the students should submit a digital portfolio that contains evidence of achieving all their objectives at least twice. CP core portfolio presentations takes place at the end of each semester to ensure that students are on track. The LD coordinator assess the digital portfolio and decide if the student has successfully completed the course.

SERVICE LEARNING

Service learning is a component of the Career-related Programme core.

Service learning provides opportunities for students to understand their capacity to make a meaningful contribution to their community and society. Through service learning, students develop and apply academic knowledge, personal skills and social skills in real-life situations involving decision-making, problem-solving, initiative, responsibility and accountability for their actions. The purpose is for students to contribute to society by improving the lives of people or assisting the environment or animals.

Service learning benefits all involved—students as they continue developing skills and knowledge applied to real-life situations, and the community through reciprocal collaboration. Service learning fosters development of abilities, attitudes and values in accordance with the IB mission statement and the IB learner profile. The process of service learning is best when understood and organized as an ongoing experience occurring with regularity throughout the duration of the students' CP.

The five service learning stages offer a helpful ongoing process framework for students.

Reflection is central to building a deep and rich experience in service learning. Reflection allows students to explore ideas, skills, strengths, limitations and areas for further development, and to consider how they may apply their prior learning and background in new contexts.

Aims

The aims of service learning are for students to:

- develop and apply knowledge and skills towards meeting an authentic community need
- develop as leaders who take initiative, solve problems and work collaboratively with others
- enjoy the experiences of both learning and service
- develop a sense of caring about, and a responsibility for, others
- gain a deeper understanding of themselves, their community and society through meaningful reflection
- enhance and strengthen their experience with the existing school curriculum.

Time required

A minimum of 50 hours is expected to be devoted to service learning.

SERVICE LEARNING

Service learning is a component of the Career-related Programme core.

The five learning outcomes articulate what CP students are able to do at some point during their service learning programme. Through meaningful and purposeful service learning experiences, students develop the necessary skills, attributes and understandings to achieve the five service learning outcomes.

The five service learning outcomes are:

NB	Learning Outcome	Descriptor
LO 1	Identify own strengths and develop areas for growth	Students are able to see themselves as individuals with various abilities and skills, of which some are more developed than others.
LO 2	Demonstrate participation with service learning experiences	Students can articulate the five stages from investigating and conceiving an idea to executing a plan for a service learning experience or series of service learning experiences. Students may show their knowledge and awareness by building on a previous service learning experience, or by launching a new idea or process, or by advancing the work of others. This may be accomplished in collaboration with other participants.
LO 3	Demonstrate the skills and recognize the benefits of working collaboratively	Students are able to identify and critically discuss the benefits and challenges of collaboration gained through service learning experiences.
LO 4	Demonstrate engagement with issues of global significance	Students are able to identify and demonstrate their understanding of global issues, make responsible decisions and take appropriate action in response to the issue either locally, nationally or internationally.
LO 5	Recognize and consider the ethics of choices and actions	Students show awareness of the consequences of choices and actions in planning and carrying out service learning experiences.

Evidencing the outcomes

Some service learning outcomes may be achieved many times, while others may be demonstrated less frequently. Not all service learning experiences lead to a service learning outcome.

Students provide the school with evidence in their service learning portfolio of having achieved each learning outcome at least twice through their service learning programme.

The career-related context

With many students, it may be appropriate for the service learning plans and identified need to be correlated to their career-related studies. If, for example, students are undertaking a course on health care as part of their career-related studies, service learning experiences related to hospitals, health clinics, rehabilitation centres and nursing homes could be ideal.

For some students, exploring a distinct or different area of interest may develop or provoke new avenues for exploration and open further career opportunities. In most service learning experiences, students will come into contact with people in diverse roles in society and learn about careers that may be new to them, or that they may experience and understand in new ways.

Requirements

All CP students are required to engage in a service learning programme. Completion of service learning is based on student achievement of the five service learning outcomes.

All students are required to maintain and complete a service learning portfolio as evidence of their engagement with service learning throughout the programme and of application of the five stages of service learning. While not formally assessed, the portfolio gives students an opportunity to outline and reflect on their service learning experience. This provides the school with evidence that the student has achieved the five service learning outcomes.

As part of the programme, students engage in three interviews with their service learning coordinator. These formal interviews are documented by the coordinator and the student as further evidence of student achievement of the five outcomes.

- The first interview is at the beginning of the service learning programme.
- The second interview is at the end of the first year of the service learning programme.
- The third interview is at the end of the service learning programme. The provision of service learning is expected to run concurrently with the other components of the CP core.

Assessment

At the end of the course, the students should submit a digital portfolio that contains evidence of achieving all their learning outcomes at least twice. CP core portfolio presentations takes place at the end of each semester to ensure that students are on track. The SL coordinator assess the digital portfolio and decide if the student has successfully completed the course.

The 5 Stages of Service Learning

The five stages of service learning (adapted from Five stages of service learning, Kaye 2010) offer a helpful and supportive framework and continuum of process; this is the expected approach for service learning.

The process of service learning, when done well, engages students in inquiry. Students:

- investigate an interest that often raises questions and curiosity and typically reveals an authentic need
 - prepare by learning more to deepen understanding
 - take action based on the verified need
 - reflect on what they have done along the way
 - demonstrate their understandings and accomplishments to an audience.
- These service learning stages ensure that students gain experience with a reliable yet flexible structure that they can then apply with confidence to future situations in many aspects of their life.

There are three parts in the service learning model:

The core is the curriculum; the service learning experience draws from and enhances academic learning.

The surrounding circles and arrows represent the process with four key parts: investigation, preparation, action and reflection (occurring intermittently in response to significant experiences).

The outer circle has two parts and guides students in summarizing their experience: reflection and demonstration.

For all service learning experiences, students begin with investigation.

During ongoing service learning experiences, the action stage may lead students back to investigation or preparation as they further develop, expand and implement new or related ideas to address the same or different aspects of the identified need.

The service learning model

The 4 Types of Action

During the stages of investigation and preparation of the five stages of service learning, students identify a need and learn more about the issue, situations and circumstances. They also determine an appropriate form of action that addresses this societal or community need. This often requires students to verify the need and to innovate or join others already engaged in purposeful action. By engaging in different types of service learning within the CP, students accumulate different ways of knowing about their community and their potential for contributing to societal change.

The type of action and what is done as action is enhanced when students draw from their interests, skills and talents; this accounts for high levels of engagement as they also integrate academic content and knowledge.

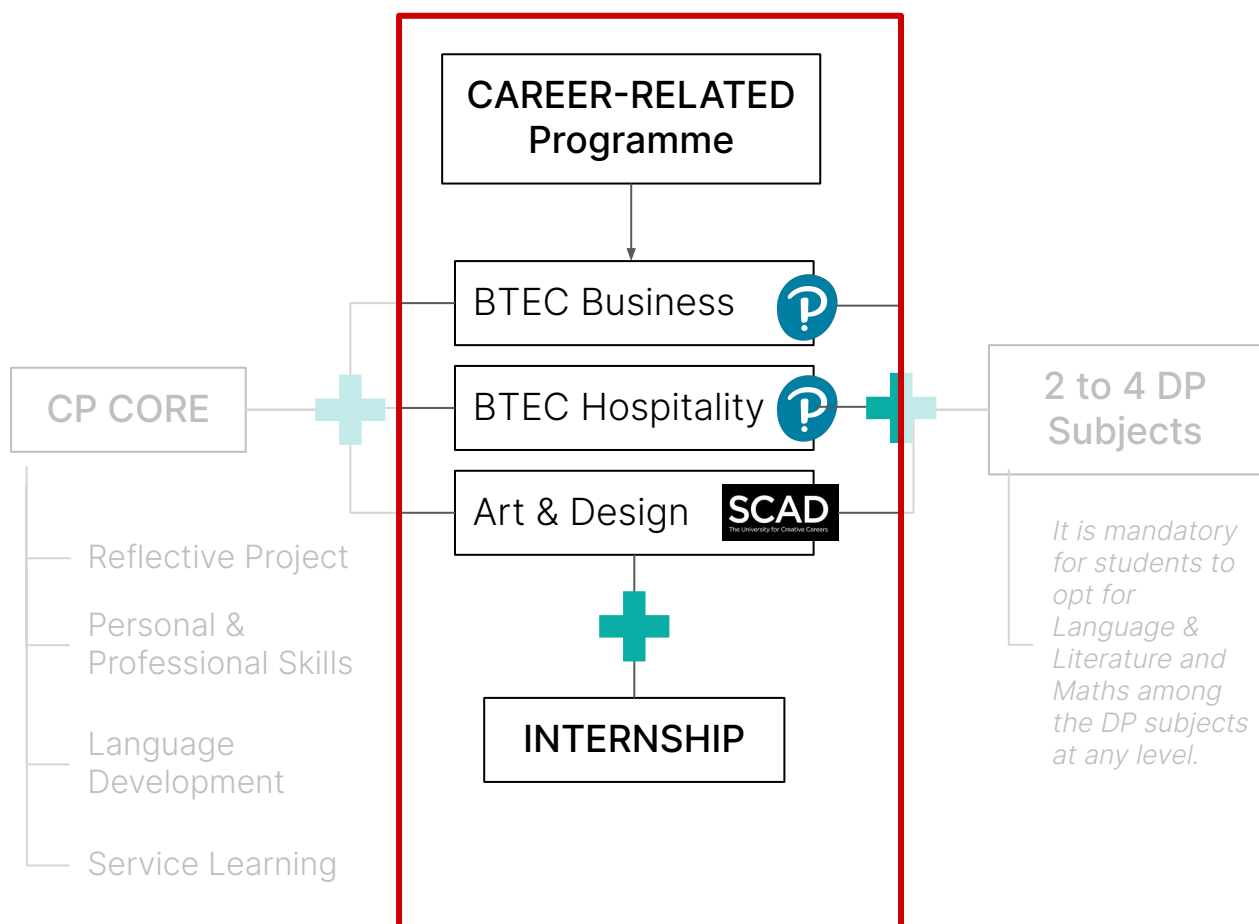

The four types of action are:

- Direct service: Students engage directly with the people, environment or animals.
 - Examples: Students could undertake one-on-one tutoring, develop a garden in partnership with refugees, or work in an animal shelter.
- Indirect service: Though students do not see the recipients of indirect service, they have verified their actions will benefit the community or environment.
 - Examples: Students could redesign a non-profit organization's website, write picture books to teach a language, or nurture tree seedlings for planting.
- Advocacy: Students speak on behalf of an issue of public interest in order to promote awareness and understanding through dispersal of accurate information that may lead to others taking action.
 - Examples: Students could lead an awareness campaign on hunger, perform a play about replacing bullying with respect, or create a video about sustainable water solutions.
- Research: Students collect information from various sources, analyse data and report on a topic of importance to influence policy or practice.
 - Examples: Students may conduct environmental surveys to influence their school, contribute to a study of animal migration, compile effective means to reduce litter in public spaces, or conduct social research by interviewing people on topics such as homelessness, unemployment or isolation.

CAREER-RELATED STUDIES

The beginning of your Professional Journey!

The CP Career-Related Studies

The Career-related studies (CRS) is offered as part of the part of the International Baccalaureate Career-related Programme (IBCP). It focuses on preparing students for a specific career or field of work. Career-related studies can help students to develop the skills and knowledge they need to succeed in their chosen careers through vocational courses, internships and work experience placements.

At ARIS, we collaborate with Pearson BTEC to offer students a career pathway in either Business or Hospitality and Savannah College of Art & Design (SCAD) for the students who would like to pursuit a career in Art & Design.

Mode of Delivery

The mode of delivery for the career pathways in Business or Hospitality is fully face to face. The BTEC team at ARIS has received a training from Pearson BTEC to become a center and qualify teachers to deliver the units.

Understanding the qualification grade in Pearson BTEC

Each unit within the qualification has specified assessment and grading criteria, which are to be used for grading purposes.

Grading Criteria

A summative unit grade can be awarded at pass, merit or distinction:

- to achieve a 'pass' a learner must have satisfied all the pass assessment criteria
- to achieve a 'merit' a learner must additionally have satisfied all the merit grading criteria
- to achieve a 'distinction' a learner must additionally have satisfied all the distinction grading criteria.
- Learners who complete the unit but who do not meet all the pass criteria are graded 'unclassified'

The learner will be taught the background information by doing class activities and research tasks. Then he/she will be given an assignment to complete. The assignment will be a written or practical task(s) to give the learner the opportunity to achieve the basic Pass level.

The more complex tasks that require more research and independence will allow the learner to achieve Merit and Distinction grades. It is very important to meet the deadlines so that he/she can get feedback from your tutor(s) and understand how to reach the higher grades. Evidence of learner's coursework may be a written piece of work, an information poster or presentation. Evidence may also be submitted by 'witness/observation statement records' where the tutor(s) writes a short account of a practical activity the learner has undertaken. He/She can include videos and photographs that show the skills they have learnt.

Points available for units

The table below shows the number of points available for internal units. For each internal unit, points are allocated depending on the grade awarded.

	Unit Size
	60 GLH	90 GLH	120 GLH
U	0	0	0
Pass	6	9	12
Merit	10	15	20
Distinction	16	24	32

Calculation of qualification grade

The final qualification grade will be calculated based on the sum of all the points units earned in each unit.

	Subsidiary Diploma
	360 GLH
	Grade	Points threshold
U	U	0
Pass	P	36
Merit	M	52
Distinction	D	74
Distinction*	D*	90

SUBMISSION OF BTEC ASSIGNMENTS

An assignment may take a variety of forms, including practical and written types. An assignment is a distinct activity, completed independently by learners, that is separate from teaching, practice, exploration and other activities that learners complete with direction from teachers.

An assignment is issued to learners as an assignment brief with a defined start date, a completion date and clear requirements for the evidence that they need to provide. There may be specific observed practical components during the assignment period. Assignments can be divided into tasks and may require several forms of evidence. A valid assignment will enable a clear and formal assessment outcome, based on the assessment criteria. For most units, teachers will set the assignments. For controlled assessment units, Pearson will set the assignment. At the end of each assignment submission, the student should submit a declaration and authentication form.

BTEC LEARNER ASSESSMENT SUBMISSION AND DECLARATION

When submitting evidence for assessment, each learner must sign a declaration confirming that the work is their own.

INTERNSHIP

Internships are an important part of career-related studies because they provide students with the opportunity to explore their chosen career and apply their knowledge and skills in a real-world setting. This can help students to better understand the work environment and to develop the practical skills that are necessary to succeed in their chosen field. Internships also provide students with the chance to network with professionals in their field and to make connections that can be helpful in finding a future jobs. At ARIS, we believe internships are a valuable experience for students, helping them to build their resume, gain experience, and get a foot in the door of their chosen industry. We are collaborating with many organisations in our community that we believe they will be able to give our students hands-on experiences. Some of these organisations are Rana Motors, IBIS styles, ARG among many more.

Time & Duration of the internship

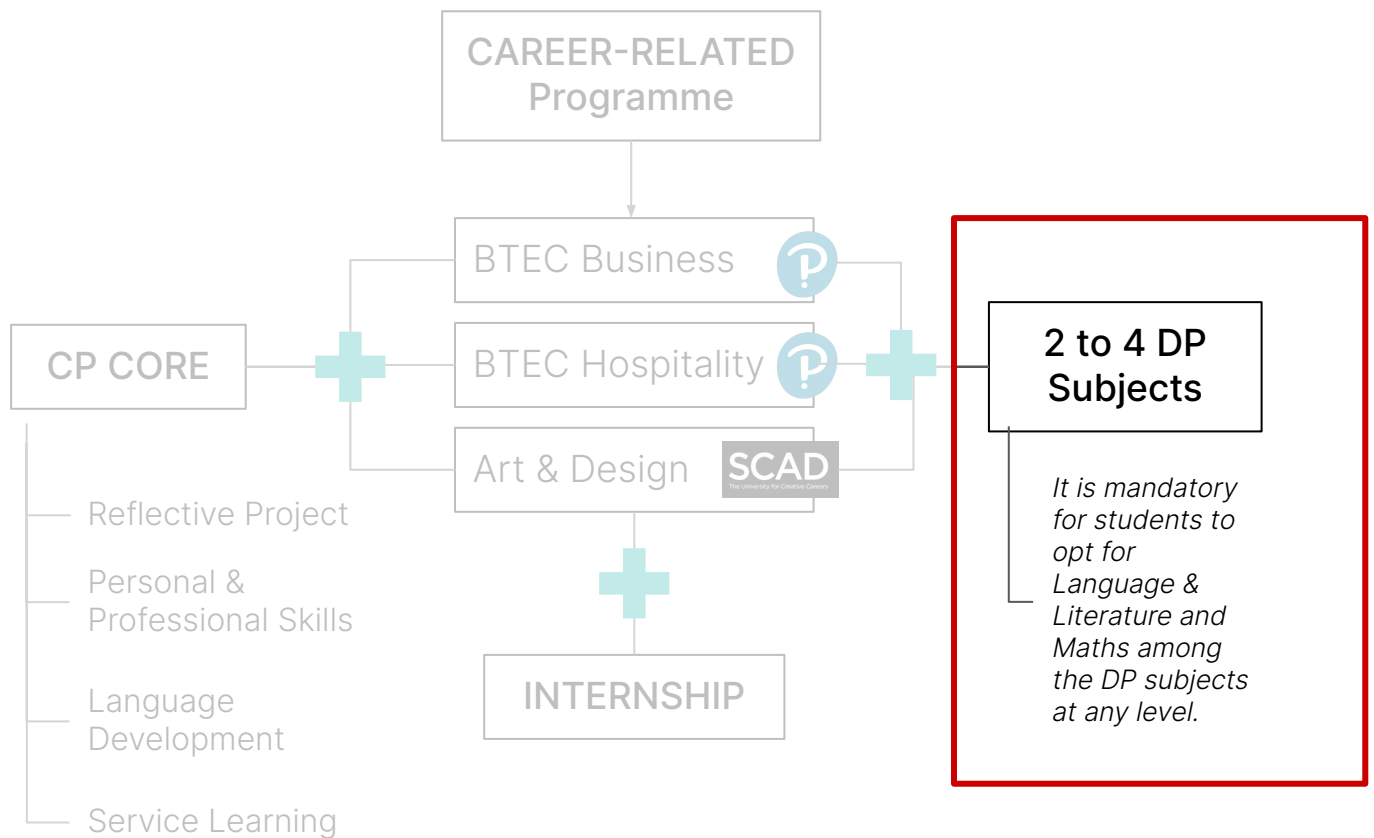

The students go on internship at the end of the CP1 (Year 12). They are expected to complete 4 weeks of internship of any of the organisations that have signed an MOU with ARIS. An internship pack is shared with students at the beginning of the internship and it should be completed by the students and their industrial supervisors.

IBDP SUBJECTS

The Foundational Concepts That will Guide your Career.

DP SUBJECT SELECTION FOR IBCP

At ARIS, we offer 3 career pathways which are Business, Hospitality and Art and Design. The student should choose only one of these three pathways. All three pathways requires CP core and a selection of 2 to 4 DP subjects.

Based on university requirements, we have recommended 3 DP subjects that will complement your CRS (career-related study). The student can take these DP subjects at any level but we strongly advise that at least 1 DP subject should be at HL.

If the student would like to take an extra DP course that will help with the university admissions or future career, they can indicate it as your 4th course.

Students can also choose subject from Pamoja if their subject is not offered at ARIS. This will attract an extra cost.

The minimum number of students to run a subject is 3 students.

IBCP ACCESS ARRANGEMENTS

Candidates eligible for inclusive access arrangements are those with individual needs such as a specific learning difficulty, an emotional or behavioural difficulty, physical, sensory or medical conditions, or mental health problems.

Access arrangements do not change what the student is expected to learn and do not lower expectations, but instead provide the optimal support to address challenges and to enable the student to work around them.

TECHNOLOGY INTEGRATION

Integration of technology within our classrooms is important because it enhances the learning experience for students, prepare them for the future, and support the development of important skills. At ARIS, students have access to a vast array of resources and tools that can help them learn more effectively and engage with the material in new and interesting ways.
